

Education

- Sep' 2024 – Ongoing Ph.D. Candidate, Economics, Paris School of Economics and University Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, Paris, France.
- 2023–2024 Master 2, Economics & Psychology, Paris School of Economics, University Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and University Paris Cité, Paris, France.
- 2022–2023 Master 1, Economics & Psychology, Paris School of Economics, University Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and University Paris Cité, Paris, France.
- 2021–2022 Bachelor Exchange, Economics, University of California, Santa Barbara, United States.
- 2019–2022 Bachelor, Economics, University of Bordeaux, Bordeaux, France.

Professional Experience

- Mar 2025 – May 2025 Economics Tutoring, Paris, France.
Helped undergraduate exchange students from the Columbia in Paris program with the Paris 1 Experimental Economics course.
- Oct' 2023 – Present Research Assistant, Paris School of Economics.
Supervised by Carine Staropoli and Philippe Gagnepain. Conducted literature review, wrote reports, designed an experiment, collected and analyzed data for a laboratory study on modal shift, funded by the transport company Transdev.
- Sep' 2021 – Jun 2022 French Tutoring, Santa Barbara, California.
Helped with assignments and supported language learning.

Grant

- 2024 Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, €500
Funding to conduct a pilot experiment (detailed in the section below).

Skills

- Software R Studio, $\text{\LaTeX}$, Excel, Qualtrics, MATLAB (beginner)
- Programming Python, oTree, Deep Learning (keras), HTML (beginner), JavaScript (beginner)

Research

- Sep' 2023 – May 2024 Master 2 Thesis, Environmental Economics, Experimental Economics, and Transportation Economics, Supervised by Carine Staropoli.
Studied the impact of introducing an urban toll and which factors could influence its acceptability in a laboratory modal choice experiment.
- Sep' 2023 – May 2024 Pilot Study, Experimental Economics, University Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne, with two colleagues.
Investigated how motivated reasoning may be affected by the desirability of an outcome and how this influences learning in a laboratory experiment.
- Sep' 2022 – May 2023 Master 1 Thesis, Experimental Economics, Experimental Psychology, and Social Psychology, Supervised by Nadine Chaurand.
Studied self-esteem and self-efficacy in a computerized risk-taking task and how protective equipment can modulate safety perception.
Part of the data was collected at the Cognitive Science Fair, La Villette, Paris, France.

Other

- Organizer of the conference Doctorissimes 2025 (Paris School of Economics)

Languages

French Native

English Bilingual

Spanish Intermediate (B1)